ABOUT ME

I am a strong middle front-end developer with 5 years of commercial development experience. I have a lot of experience with different approaches to development. This includes the development and maintenance of sites both in React and in pure JavaScript (worked more with JS). I also have good taste in web design, I understand the principles of UI/UX. I try to constantly be aware of and learn new technologies and development principles. I am interested in modern approaches to web design and user-friendly interfaces. I like to work on interesting projects that require logic, as well as interesting design.
